LEMKE'S BILL FOR INFLATION MEETS DEFEAT

Father of Measure Which Would Print New Money Refuses to Give Up

TAX BILL UNDER FIRE

Rural Resettlement Plan Needs More Funds

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Washington, May 14.—(AP)—Democratic leaders pointed today to the fate of the Frazier-Lemke farm re-financing bill, smashed down in the house, as a sure sign that "there will be no inflation."

In the defeated camp, Representative Lemke (R-ND) who had labored five years for the bill to print $3,000,000,000 in new money to refinance farm mortgages on easy terms, said that the issue would be carried into the front lines of the political wars. He also announced it would be re-introduced today in the hope legislators might "repent."

Smiling grimly, he received the condolences of his friends over the 235 to 142 beating handed the bill yesterday amid the whoops of its jubilant opponents.

"It wasn't so bad," Lemke said. "We'll get back here next January, and there won't be quite as many familiar faces as there are now—at least not from the farm states."

After nearly seven hours of the most violent battling witnessed on the floor this session, 173 Democrats and 62 Republicans roared their disapproval of the bill. Three Farmer-Laborites, 7 Progressives, 27 Republicans and 105 Democrats lined up behind it.

(The measure would have authorized issuance of 11-2 per cent bonds to refinance existing farm debts over 47 years at 11-2 per cent interest. If the bonds did not sell, new currency up to $3,000,000,000 would have been printed.)

RURAL RESETTLEMENT PROGRAM THREATENED

A warning that the resettlement administration will have to be terminated unless additional funds for it are provided by congress or President Roosevelt by July 1, was given a senate appropriations subcommittee today by Rexford Guy Tugwell.

LIFE BEHIND BARS FOR "LOVE" KILLER

CHARLES WILSON TAKEN TO OHIO PENITENTIARY.

Mansfield, O., May 14.—(AP)—Judge C. H. Huston sentenced Charles Wilson, 23, to a life term in Ohio penitentiary today for the slaying of the girl he planned to marry, Jean Moorehead, 17.

Wilson was taken immediately to the prison in Columbus by Sheriff E. P. Long.

Before sentencing the young electrician, Judge Huston overruled a motion for a new trial.

Wilson shot Miss Moorehead to death last April 4 when he found her in an automobile with Haskell Smith, 23. Wilson had pleaded that the shooting was accidental.

Davey Is 3 to 2 Choice for Gubernatorial Nomination Over Young—Union for Social Justice Shows Strength in Congressional Nominations

Columbus, O., May 14.—(AP)—Aparant and certain winners in Ohio's primary oiled their election campaign machinery today as vote tabulators labored to wind up the slowest count in years.

Meanwhile four major victories were recorded or indicated. One was a distinct surprise. It was the ability of father Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice to oust two Ohio district congressmen, nominate 15 or 16 of its 32 candidates for congress, and assure itself of at least two seats by taking both nominations in two districts.

With less than 500 of the state's 8,579 precincts still out, other major victories were:

1.—The Republican regulars' success in electing 47 of the state's important 52 delegates to the Cleveland convention, against five pledged to the presidential candidacy of the fighting liberal, Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho. The victory included the entire delegate-at-large slate of eight elected by state-wide voting.

2.—President Roosevelt's lead of more than 16 to 1 over Col. Henry Breckinridge of New York in the legally impotent "popularity contest," the Democratic preferential residential primary.

3.—Gov. Martin L. Davey's 3 to 2 lead over Congressman Stephen M. Young for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Davey supporters had predicted defeating Young and Charles Hubbell of Cleveland, the third candidate, together by 5 to 1.

Former Congressman John McSweeney of Wooster and Lieut. Gov. Harold G. Mosier of Cleveland held commanding leads today over Francis W. Durbin of Lima for the two Democratic nominations for congress-at-large in 7,872 of the state's 8,579 precincts.

Henry Miller, 70, residing on the Dr. Stewart B. Smith farm a half mile south of Bloomingburg, was injured seriously Thursday afternoon shortly before three o'clock, when struck by a passing automobile.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition and Dr. E. H. McDonald, Bloomingburg, called.

An examination showed that Miller had sustained a badly fractured skull and was otherwise injured.

The Klever ambulance was called and he was removed to Grant Hospital as soon as possible.

The driver of the car, whose name could not be learned at once, stopped and rendered assistance, it was said.

Miller is well known in the Bloomingburg community and has been employed by Carl McCoy, who has the farm of Dr. Smith under lease.

Prisoner Comes Back After Making Escape

AND HE IS REWARDED FOR VOLUNTARY RETURN

London, O., May 14.—(AP)—Harry Bradford, 28, of Lima saved himself an extra 365 days in jail by returning voluntarily to the London prison farm yesterday after escaping from a labor gang.

Instead of the usual two-year penalty added to a prisoner's sentence when he escapes, prison officials said Bradford would only have to serve one year.

He was sentenced in 1933 to serve one to five years for selling mortgaged property.

Negro Terrorizes Nurses' Home

One Slugged with Brick by Degenerate Believed to Be Man Hunted for Brutal Murder in Chicago Y. M. C. A., Which Is Nearby

Chicago, May 14.—(AP)—A light skinned negro believed by the police to be the same man who last Saturday bludgeoned Mrs. Lillian Guild, 59, to death in a Y. W. C. A. bedroom, today slugged a nurse at the St. Luke's hospital with a brick and escaped after terrorizing 80 other nurses.

The attack was made on Miss Louise Rickert, 20, of Detroit, Mich., in her fourth floor room at the Hospital Nurses' Home, a few blocks south of the Guild murder scene—Michigan boulevard, in downtown Chicago.

Sergt. Kyran Phelan of the Detective bureau said he was convinced the intruder was the man who beat Mrs. Guild with a brick and strangled her after, physicians said, apparly assaulting her.

Mrs. Rickert suffered a 3-inch gash on the left side of her head from the blow of the brick.

The second attack came as police apparently had run up against a blank wall in their search for the slayer of Mrs. Guild whose almost nude body was found in her blood splattered room.

CITY PARKING RESTRICTIONS FOR SATURDAY EXTENDED BY ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

City council held a session Wednesday evening, discussing various matters and transacting business of importance.

The traffic ordinance was amended so that the two hour parking regulations in the main part of the city will be extended to ten o'clock on Saturday nights instead of nine o'clock. Otherwise the ordinance, which is being enforced, remains unchanged.

It is explained that the change was made because many of those picked up about nine o'clock, after checking has, been made shortly before seven, declare they had not been parked two hours.

A petition was read, signed by quite a number of persons, asking that M. S. Tracey be named Justice of the Peace in the city, inasmuch as Justice of the Peace-Elect Strevey had never qualified. W. W. DeWees is at present the only justice in Washington township, or this city.

Solicitor Max Dice was instructed to ask the Court to reduce the number of Justices of the Peace in the city from two to one, and the Tracey petition was carried over.

Council also took action to stop all bill passing in the city after May 25, and Police Court Justice Lewis will withdraw all permits granted under the bill-passing ordinance.

A resolution recently adopted by the Board of Trustees of the Public Library, changing rules and regulations so that free service may be rendered to all residents of the county instead of the city, so that the Library may participate in the Classified Property tax distribution.

FREEDOM SHORT FOR BAD BOYS

Two of Trio Who Slugged B. I. S. Guard in Escape Caught in Cleveland

Cleveland, O., May 14.—(AP)—Two negro youths, who escaped yesterday with a white companion from the Lancaster Boys' Industrial school by abducting the school electrician and stealing his automobile awaited their return to the institution today in a Cleveland jail cell.

The two were booked as Montgomery Evans, 18, of Cleveland, and James Williams, 18, of Lorain.

Their fellow fugitive, Douglas Fulton, 15, of Ashland, was not apprehended.

The youths' fear of a passing patrol wagon sent them running last night into a police trap.

W. L. Edwards, the electrician, told police he was driving the trio, all trustees, to a power station when Williams slugged him from behind with a piece of cable, temporarily stunning him. Evans, he said, moved behind the wheel and drove the auto toward Cleveland.

They forced the electrician into the back seat, he said, and robbed him of a $65 watch which they sold (Continued on Page Six.)

GUARD SLAIN AS CONVICTS MAKE BREAK

Wife of Hostage Forced to Serve Breakfast to Five Fugitives

DOGS TRAIL OTHERS

Sixteen of 24 in Dash for Freedom Caught

McAlester, Okla., May 13.—(AP)—Five convicts fleeing from McAlester prison with two wounded guards abducted William Doaks of near Pittsburg early today after forcing Mrs. Doaks to prepare breakfast for them. Undersheriff W. O. Merrill reported.

The five, Merrill said, were those who killed A. D. Powell, penitentiary brickyard foreman and escaped in a guard's automobile during a break from the prison yesterday, in which 24 convicts took part. Three others are at large.

Merrill said the news of the abduction of the farmer was brought to McAlester by Mike Isabel, a merchant at Pittsburg, who had talked to Mrs. Doaks.

Fifteen prison guards searched through the hills near Andlers for two of the convicts reported seen there at 2:30 a. m. Warden Roy Kenny said.

Another posse of prison guards and officers searched the brush around Stewart for one or more felons reported sighted there.

From one of the recaptured prisoners, retaken after the knife-flashing break from the prison brickyard, the warden learned that one of the two hostage guards, Tuko Cope, was wounded.

The other captive guard was Victor Conn.

LORD ALLENBY, BRITAIN'S SOLDIER HERO, IS DEAD

Restored Holy Land to Christian Dominion by Driving Out Moslem Turks

London, May 14.—(AP)—Lord Allenby, Britain's soldier hero of Palestine, died suddenly today at his Kensington home. He was 75 years old.

The last of the empire's outstanding military leaders of the World War, the Viscount and Field Marshal led the triumphal allied entry into Jerusalem, but lived to renounce "the glory of conquest with its gain of dead men's fruit."

That renunciation came less than a month ago when, at his installation as Lord Rector of Edinburgh University, he advocated establishment of a world police force for the maintenance of world peace.

Except for his functions on state occasions, when he served as gold stick-in-waiting, Lord Allenby had taken little part in public life since he returned from Egypt in 1925.

His ancient title enabled him to walk close behind the king.

So far as the public knew, the great soldier had been in normal health recently. He appeared hearty when he spoke at Edinburgh April 28.

So long as there are Christians, the memory of Edmund Allenby

ZEPPELIN BACK IN GERMANY AFTER ROUND TRIP TO U. S. ANOTHER STARTS SATURDAY

Homeward Flight of 4,168 Miles Made in 49 Hours, Nearly Half Day Faster Than Voyage to America—Cheering Crowd Greets Trans-Atlantic Dirigible.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER.

(Copyright 1936, By Associated Press)

Frankfort on the Main, Germany, May 14.—Surpassing all records for both eastward and westward commercial crossings of the Atlantic, the giant German Zeppelin Hindenburg touched ground at 5:45 a. m. (11:45 p. m., Wednesday, EST) to end its first flight from America.

The official flying time for the voyage from Lakehurst, N. J., was given as 49 hours, three minutes, during which the great air cruiser covered 6,670 kilometers (4,168.75 miles).

Despite the early hour of its arrival, a great crowd gathered at the airdrome and a Nazi band played lusty airs.

The same excitement attended the Zeppelin's arrival in Lakehurst after a flight of 61 hours, 53 minutes from Friedrichshafen welcomed the return of the massive lighter-than-air cruiser to its new base in even swifter record time.

Municipal officials arranged a city hall reception in honor of Dr. Hugo Eckener, president of the Zeppelin Company, and Capt. Ernest Lehmann, commander of the Hindenburg.

The Zeppelin will leave for the United States Saturday, on the second of its projected series of commercial flights.

The Hindenburg, which lifted into the air from Lakehurst at 10:07½ p. m., EST, Monday, followed approximately the same course it took over the northern steamship route on its westward flight which ended last Saturday at Lakehurst.

CONGRESSMAN ZIONCHECK FLEES PUERTO RICO BY PLANE AFTER WILD DEMONSTRATIONS

COUNTY PUPILS TAKING TESTS

Achievement Exams for 2,000 Students

Achievement tests covering the fundamental school subjects in grades 2-8 were distributed from the office of the county superintendent to the heads of the several county schools recently.

The tests are designed to measure achievement objectively, as well as to provide a diagnostic analysis of learning difficulties. The tests are constructed and organized that specific learning difficulties may be isolated as a basis for remedial instruction. The following subject fields comprise the scope of the tests: Reading Vocabulary (word form, word recognition, meaning of opposites, meaning of similarities); Reading Comprehensions (following directions, interpretations, organization); Arithmetic Reasoning (number concept, signs and symbols, problems); Arithmetic Fundamentals (addition, subtraction, multiplication, division); Language (capitalization, punctuation, words and sentences, spelling, handwriting).

The results of the testing program will be tabulated at the county office, thus establishing county standards in pupil achievement. The results of the tests will be used, in part, in determining promotions and retardations, and particularly in the correction of learning difficulties among the pupils of the county schools.

He Gets in Center of "Independence" Rumpus and Tosses Cocoanuts into Hotel Dance

San Juan Puerto Rico May 14.—(P)—Rep. Marion Zioncheck and his bride flew off to the Virgin Islands today while Puerto Rican National Guardsmen rallied against student disorders such as troubled the honeymooning congressman's visit.

After watching students striking and demonstrating for independence, and calling for naval and marine protection, the Washington representative concluded his brief but eventful stay here late yesterday, leaving with Mrs. Zioncheck for St. Thomas.

Forsaking the automobile in which he had become involved in collisions with a truck and a gate, the congressman and his young wife departed in a Marine plane. Gov. Blanton Winship issued a proclamation assuring order and safety for all schools and urging parents to accompany their children to classes "to be satisfied and convinced that the assurances offered them are real."

The National Guard was ordered, with police, to watch all schools after nationalist students called strikes and tossed stones Tuesday night and yesterday in support of their campaign for independence from the United States.

Capt. Raymon Martinez, chief of the San Juan police, resigned amid complaints by many citizens of the absence of vigorous police measures against the school disorders. He was replaced by Police Captain Rafael B. Diaz, who came from Rio Piedras to assume the San Juan police command.

Employees at the hotel where he stayed said he kept the guests awake most of last night by tossing coconuts into a garden where late dancers and diners were gathered.

Before the Congressman boarded the plane, he sent a message to President Roosevelt in Washington outlining his views on the Puerto Rican situation. In answer, he received this reply from Presidential Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre:

"Impossible even to consider your request, Governor Blanton Winship at San Juan is the sole and competent authority to carry out this government's policy in Puerto Rico."

Zioncheck did not disclose what his request to the White House had been.

Later the White House in Washington conversed with Governor Winship by radio telephone. Secretary McIntyre speaking from the United States end.

"The United States either ought to get in or get out of here," he said. "Children seven and eight years old are running through the streets yelling 'Viva Republica' and 'down with the United States.'"

The Congressman's review of insular affairs was interrupted by the pilot of the marine plane who said "we are leaving now, Mr. Congressman."

Zioncheck his nerves frayed by rock-throwing young patriots who brought the mobilization of the National Guard, helped his young wife aboard, climbed in himself and the plane took off.

THOMPSON TRUCK FOUND IN DAYTON

A small truck owned by the Thompson Transfer Co. of this city, and which was stolen from the streets one night this week, has been located in Dayton, where it was abandoned by a "fat, slim man."

An automobile, owned by Earl Tufts, of Lockbourne, Ohio, which was stolen in Columbus the night the Thompson truck was stolen here, was found abandoned in this city.

A hitch-hiker whom Tufts had given a ride into Columbus is suspected of the theft.

CONCRETE WORK IS NOW COMPLETE

All concrete work on the Sugar creek bridge on U. S. 35, (James-town road) has been completed, the last concrete approach being poured Wednesday.

The work of laying the other approaches to the bridge, and putting the finishing touches on the bridge will be finish in the near future.

It is expected the bridge will be open to traffic sometime about the middle of June, or perhaps before. George A. Stein of Niles is the contractor.

H. RENICK BOGGS IS A BIG SUCCESS IN OWN BUSINESS

Left Marshall Field and Company with Others to Launch New Business with Surprising Success

Many friends and admirers, hereabouts, who have followed the business career of H. Renick Boggs since he became associated, several years ago, with Marshall Field and Company of Chicago will be gratified and interested in the following item appearing in the Chicago Daily News which gives an account of Mr. Boggs' success in the mercantile world since he left Marshall Field and Company and started a business of his own.

"This is the story of a Chicago success in five months in a field which for five years and more has been singing the depression blues."

Out of the discontinuance last year by Marshall Field & Company of all jobbing activities came a number of new wholesale firms, composed of former Field executives and department heads. One of these was Richards, Boggs & King, headed by Harvey B. Richards, a divisional merchandise manager; H. R. Boggs, assistant general sales manager and sponsor of the much discussed Marshall Field Merchandise express of last summer, and J. A. King, who had left the Field organization some five years before the shakeup.

Like so many of the new firms, the Richards, Boggs & King organization took over several of the old Field jobbing lines and planned to concentrate sales activities in take central west. The firm was on the lookout for novelties and new products, and presently found one in a new, low-priced and very light weight rubber product made by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company. It was decided to make a few women's hooded rain capes as an experiment.

Then Came the Orders. After a few changes in design, samples of the capes were sent out to a selected list of retailers. The orders began to come in; they have been coming in ever since. Then and there all plans for confining wholesale activities to the middle west went haywire.

The larger State street department stores are selling the rain capes; so are those of New York. Orders have been booked literally on a coast-to-coast basis and for export. The Graf Zeppelin brought in its mail the confirmation of a cable order from Paris. An exporting company seeks exclusive South American rights; another is negotiating for sales rights in China. One of the samples mailed when the capes first went into production brought an order last week from Melbourne, Australia.

This week's shipments will amount to about 1,500 dozen capes and the firm is 5,000 dozen behind on its orders. Six factories have been opened, employing about 250 operatives and supervisors. Four of these are located in Chicago and two in near-by communities.

Of Special Interest. Chemical research brought into being the new low-priced product; alert merchandising initiative seized upon it to meet a consumer need at an equally low price. Thus this story of successful merchandising follows the pattern of nearly every other outstanding success of the post-crash period.

What makes it of special interest from the Chicago viewpoint is that the manufacturing and sales headquarters are here, Chicago unemployment is being reduced, and Chicago's prestige as a wholesale center is gaining added luster."

LID CLAMPED ON GAMBLING PLACES

It is understood that definite word was issued Thursday to two or three places where, according to complaints, gambling has been permitted more or less openly, that such gambling must cease at once or the places would be raided by the police.

Police, it is also understood, were notified to visit all such places after Thursday to see that the order is enforced.

WILL OBSERVE POPPY DAY ON MAY 23

Poppy Day will be observed in Washington C. H. this year on Saturday, May 23, when memorial poppies, made of crepe paper by disabled veterans, to be worn in honor of the World War dead, will be distributed throughout the city by the American Legion Auxiliary of Paul H. Hughey Post No. 25. The Auxiliary will have a force of volunteer workers, under the leadership of Mrs. N. H. Russell, Poppy Day Chairman, in the business district throughout the day and will also work in the residential sections.

"Wearing the poppy is a personal tribute to the men who gave their lives in the country's service," a member of the committee said. "By having a poppy on the coat on Poppy Day, all can show that they still remember and honor the sacrifices made for America during the World War. The poppy is the flower which bloomed on the battle fields where they fell and on

Poppy Day it blooms again over the patriotic hearts where they are remembered.

"Wearing the poppy also gives the wearer a part in the vast work carried out by The American Legion and Auxiliary for the war's living victims; the disabled, their families and the families of the dead. Every penny contributed for a poppy goes to the support of this work, the bulk of the money being used here in Washington C. H. in the welfare activities of local Legion Post and Auxiliary Unit.

CONSERVATION CLUB TO HOLD FISH FRY

L. H. Woodel, of the State Conservation Department, will address the Payette County Hunters and Anglers Club at its Fish Fry, which will be held Friday evening at the Eagles Lodge Rooms.

Wild life motion pictures will be shown and everyone interested in the Conservation movement is invited, says Frank Hard, Division officer.

ASSESSMENT CASES ARE BEING HEARD

Suits filed against the village of Greenfield by property owners on Jefferson street and on Edgewood Avenue, which seek to have paving assessments voided, are being heard at Hillsboro by Judge H. M. Rankin, who has had wide experience in connection with street assessments in this city.

M. Irwin Dunlap who represents the plaintiffs, contends that no notices were given to his clients and the village seeks to prove that such notices were delivered. N. P. Clyburn, Spencer Hire and James West represent the village.

MAYOR BANS SWEARING

Burnsville, W. Va. (AP)—Mayor C. E. Whytsett warned residents swearing on the streets must stop "to make Burnsville a decent and respectable town in which to live." He decreed that all who cannot curb their speech will be fined.

DRY AGENT IS SHOT FROM SPEEDING CAR

TWO MEN AND WOMEN ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN LIQUOR RUNNING

Hammond, Ind., May 14.—(AP)—John R. Foster, of Marion, Ind., of the Alcohol Tax unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, was shot and killed today by two men and another agent were trailing on a highway south of Hammond near St. John, Ind.

George L. Winkler, area alcohol administrator, said in Indianapolis he had learned that Foster, assigned to the Calumet area, and a Milwaukee, Wis., agent were trailing a coupe, which Foster had identified as carrying Indianapolis rum runners.

As the agents closed in on the car, Winkler said, a rifle was fired from the other car, the bullet striking Foster in the heart. The body was brought to a Hammond morgue.

Foster joined the alcohol unit January 22, 1935. He was married.

The state police radio broadcast an alarm that a black coupe bearing two men and a woman had passed through Lafayette at a high rate of speed headed toward Indianapolis.

Lord Allenby, Britain's Soldier Hero, Is Dead

The restoration of the Holy Land to Christianity was the culmination of the most brilliant of Allenby's many military drives of dazzling swiftness. He had scored many successes on the western front in France and Flanders as chief of the British Fifth Army Corps and then the Third Army before he was sent to Egypt to carry through a program of advance in which others had failed. Before Allenby got into Egypt the African campaigning was given scant attention. War commentators had passed it over as a "side show." Allenby set to work building railroads and preparing for a big push. When the time came to shove onward against the Turkish legions he would send out "dust columns" by day, marching in one direction, and then when darkness fell, hurl his forces upon the unready Turks with an advance in the opposite direction. He pushed them out of Egypt in the autumn and before Christmas had cornered them in Palestine, between the Jordan and Mediterranean, where they surrendered to him. Once more a Christian banner fluttered above the holy places, the first time since the brief Christian occupation by the medieval crusaders. Save for that short success, Palestine had been under Moslem domination since 1244, and a part of Turkish territory since 1517.

Allenby's war experience began soon after his graduation from the Royal Military College at Sandhurst. He entered the Inniskilling Dragoons and served with them in Bechuanaland Expedition of 1884-85. Three years later he fought in Zululand. In the South African war he was adjutant of Dragoons. By 1916 he had become inspector of cavalry and when the World War broke, he went to France in command of the British mounted forces.

Two Killed, Six Injured By Storms In New Jersey

LIGHTNING TAKES TOLL OF LIFE AND PROPERTY.

Newark, N. J., May 14.—(AP)—Two men dead, six hurt and minor property damage in a dozen communities was the toll of a series of electrical storms which swept across New Jersey late yesterday.

Seeking shelter from the rain, Milford Lee, 21, and Frank Compos 35, both of Irvington, had rowed their boat within jumping distance of the shore of Weequahic Park lake, Newark, when a bolt of lightning hit it. Lee was killed and Compos knocked unconscious.

Daniel Hill, 53, a watchman, was killed by a bolt which struck the shanty where he had taken refuge at a Jersey City WPA project.

WELLINGTON, O. BANK IS LOOTED BY BANDITS

EMPLOYEES AND CUSTOMERS HERDED INTO LOBBY AS CASH IS SCOOPED UP

Oberlin, O., May 14.—(AP)—Two unmasked men robbed the First Wellington bank of between $5,000 and $10,000 today at nearby Wellington after herding five customers and three bank employees into the lobby of the institution.

The pair escaped in a (dark Chevrolet) automobile. They sped northward on Route 19, toward Norwalk and Toledo.

Cashier K. O. Townsend, who estimated the loss, said the bandits carried revolvers as they held handkerchiefs to their faces.

One approached the cashier while the other drove two women and three men patrons into the lobby, ordering them to sit there quietly. They forced Townsend, Miss Gertrude Dibble, 39, a teller, and Leon Jones, a bookkeeper, to follow the customers.

"I thought at first it was a joke," remarked Townsend. "They were that polite about the affair."

While one stood inside the entrance, his revolver trained on the group, his companion rifled two of three cash drawers. Another patron entered while the robbery was in progress. He was forced to join the persons in the lobby.

was read. The trustees plan to extend the service and share in the classified tax distribution from both city and county.

A statement "to the voters of the city" expressed appreciation for their support of the levy to meet city operating expenses was signed by each member of council and handed to The Herald with a request that it be published. It follows in full:

We, the undersigned members of the Council of the City of Washington, take this opportunity to thank the electors of the city for their support of the 2 mill levy proposal, at the primary election just concluded.

Through the favorable vote upon the tax increase, it will be possible for the city government to continue the many services for the safety and welfare of the public.

We also feel that this favorable vote is somewhat in the nature of a vote of confidence in your present city government. We shall endeavor in the future as we have in the past to administer city affairs unselfishly, impartially and efficiently.

head and tossed out of the automobile as the convicts fled. Bloodhounds were sent to Antlers to take up the trail of the two fugitives.

Search for three others was concentrated in a wood section northwest of here, where a prison ice truck was found abandoned.

Warden Kenny described them as "a hard bunch, among the toughest we had here." The two guards at their mercy were Tuck Cope and Victor Conn. Another hostage, W. W. Gossett, was wounded in an exchange of shots as the breakers sped away from the brickyard towers.

Their plot well laid, the two dozen desperate men—isolated from more than 5,000 others because they were "tougher"—chose the noon hour yesterday to come out with the knives and crude dirks they had made. They seized the four guards while they were at lunch.

Tower guards tossed down rifles and pistols in answer to the pleading of one of the shields—who spoke with a knife at his throat and an escaping convict on each side.

The tower guards were told to open the gates. This done, the felons dashed through and swarmed into a passenger car and the prison truck. A few attempted to escape on foot. Guards patrolling the fence opened fire on the convicts shooting down several.

They also turned their guns on the other convicts in the brickyard and several of these were among those wounded.

Six of those who dashed outside the prison walls were captured a short distance away.

Lemke's Bill For Inflation Meets Defeat

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) of the committee agreed "it looks that way." His comment was to reporters after Tagwell had spent three hours outlining the work of his agency.

The subcommittee is considering the house-approved $2,364,229,712 appropriation bill which carries $1,425,000,000 for relief. Of this, $85,000,000 would be provided for "rural rehabilitation" under Harry Hopkins' WPA.

Senator Nye (R-ND) who attended the hearing, said a group of senators had "indicated" it would go to the president about funds for RA if they are not placed in the bill by the committee.

Tagwell reported his agency had $102,000,000 as of April 15 and that it all would be spent or obligated by July 1.

TAX BILL REVISION PRESSED IN COMMITTEE

The Senate Finance Committee, apparently bent on wide revision of the house tax bill, today received treasury schedules through which $623,000,000 could be raised by imposing a flat tax on corporate income with a graduated levy superimposed on the basis of undistributed profits.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) after a two-hour closed session in which Secretary Morgenthau again was questioned, told reporters: "We are getting to the place where the committee can pass on matters of policy."

Harrison has suggested a plan by which corporations would be taxed 15 per cent on net income, with graduated rates ranging up to 45 per cent on income, in excess of 30 per cent of the total, withheld from distribution to stockholders.

He declined to say whether treasury experts had said his particular formula would raise the $623,000,000 of additional permanent revenue.

"I am interested," he said, "in getting the money through a process like that, and we found out we could."

The bill as passed by the house provided merely for a graduated tax on corporations, based on percentages of income withheld from distribution. The top rate would be 42 1-2 per cent.

MAY ABANDON IMPROVEMENT PLANS

New Philadelphia, O., (AP)—Final decision on abandonment of plans for a city channel improvement project on the Tuscarawas river through Massillon was in the hands of the conservancy court of the Muskingum conservancy district Thursday. The conservancy board approved elimination of the project Wednesday on request of city council and property owners.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, May 14.—(AP)—Wall Street today took control of the stock market, pushing favorite shares 1 to 6 or more points higher in the most active trading in more than a week. The closing tone was strong. Sales approximated 1,350,000 shares.

Leaders on the upturn included American Telephone, Westinghouse, J. I. Case, Du Pont, International Harvester, Allied Chemical, Owens-Illinois, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Auburn Auto, Packard, Deere, American Smelting, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, North American, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Douglas Aircraft, Distillers Corp., Seagrams, and International Nickel.

Other financial markets also were generally brighter. Cotton was firm. Corporate bonds edged forward moderately, and leading foreign currencies were steady. Wheat closed a trifle irregular, 1/4 cent higher to 1/2 cent lower. Corn was 1/4c lower to 1/2c higher, and oats were unchanged to 1/4c lower.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN

Chicago, May 14.—(AP)—Sharply reversing action witnessed yesterday, wheat prices today climbed down the ladder.

To a notable extent, the lowering of wheat values apparently resulted from authoritative assertions that defeat of the Frazier-Lemke bill in congress had killed all present prospects of inflationary legislation. Dearth of new export business in Canadian wheat acted also as a weight on prices.

Rallies in the last few minutes brought about an irregular close, 1/2 cent lower to 1/4c higher compared with yesterday's finish, May .92 1/4 @ 1/4, July .85 1/4 @ 1/4; corn closed 1/4c lower to 1/4c higher; oats unchanged to 1/4c off, and provisions varying from 15 cents setback to an equal advance.

The Woman's Page

THE Washington Country Club has staged many beautiful affairs, but none lovelier nor more exquisite in appointments than the luncheon-bridge of Wednesday, entertained by Mrs. Glenn Rodgers for her niece, Miss Kathryn Mae Schmid, of Cleveland. It was the gayest of parties, assembling sixty-five guests, with a large contingent of the younger society girls, who were doubly intrigued when the affair proved an announcement party. The interest of the affair mounted to high tide when pretty and appropriate place cards brought to the guests the announcement of the engagement of the lovely young honor guest, to Mr. Robert B. Kennedy, of Detroit, Mich.

No more perfect setting could have been found than the club lounge and dining room. In artistic grouping, baskets and bowls of snapdragons, fleur de lis, snowballs, daffodils and tulips, graced the recesses and every effective space, and created a scene of vivid color.

Mrs. Rodgers, wearing a spring model of figured woodash crepe, with trim of midnight blue taffeta, shoulder bouquet of pink roses, and matching hat of the blue, graciously received, and introduced her niece, Miss Schmid, a very pretty girl of the blonde type, tall and graceful, was wearing a beautiful gown of heaven blue lace, shoulder bouquet of Killarney roses, and large leghorn hat, decorated with pink roses. Also in the receiving line were Mrs. Fred A. Schmid, mother of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. Russell C. Evick, of Columbus, also a sister of the hostess. Mrs. Schmid's handsome gown was of toast lace, with costume flower of aqua blue and brown hat, and Mrs. Evick wore a modish gown of pigeon grey with trim of violet and violet costume flower, and matching hat.

The younger contingent was seated with Miss Schmid at a long table, and the other guests at small tables, for the luncheon. The beauty of the arrangement of the long table, encircled by charming girls in vari-tinted spring costumes, created a colorful ensemble that charmed the eye. The centerpiece was an immense "shower candle bouquet" of pink roses, snapdragons and lilies-of-the-valley, from which rose pastel tapers, which flashed into twinkling flame as the guests were seated. From the centerpiece white satin striped gauze extended to vases of pink roses and lilies of the valley at the table ends. A single pink rose in a crystal vase centered the small tables.

A luncheon, three courses of delicious viands, was served, the pink and blue of the color scheme introduced in its courses. The dessert course was especially pretty, ice cream nose-gays of pastel rosebuds, and cakes with pink icing.

The announcement on the place cards called forth good wishes and stimulated the gaiety of the luncheon hour.

The afternoon's bridge game was delightfully spirited and at its close the hostess presented high score prizes to Miss Claribel Worrell and Mrs. Ormond Dewey, a lovely favor to her niece, and to Miss Emily Rowe and Miss Dorothy Hudson, brides of the near future, pretty favors. The packages were wrapped in the pink and blue, with costume flowers tied in the ribbons.

Assisting the hostess in the afternoon's courtesies were Mrs. Edward R. Hunt, Mrs. Glenn M. Pine, Mrs. Carl S. Mallow, Miss Claribel Worrell and Miss Mary Grace Snyder. The Buck florists did the table decorating.

The wedding of Miss Schmid and Mr. Kennedy will take place June the third. The marriage is the culmination of an Ohio Wesleyan University romance. Both bride and bridegroom-elect are graduates of the university, classes 1934 and 1935. Miss Schmid is a member of the Delta Theta sorority and Mr. Kennedy of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Mr. Kennedy is district salesman with the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. of Detroit, where he will take his bride to make their future home.

Mrs. M. O. Ireland and her niece, Mrs. Addie Pash, extended delightful hospitality to the woman's Relief Corps Wednesday afternoon for a Kensington. The early part of the afternoon was devoted to sewing on quilt squares and on "the march of pennies."

Contests afforded interest and entertainment with prizes won by Mrs. Mary Buzick, Mrs. Dorothy Flowers and Mrs. Emma Hoppes.

The corps planned a farewell party for Friday, May 22nd, to complement two of its members, Mrs. Horatio Wilson and Mrs. Earl Cole, who are moving to Columbus at the close of school. Mrs. Dorothy Flowers offered her home for the affair.

The women were delighted with an invitation to visit the Irelands' rock garden, one of the most beautiful in the city, which was built by Mr. Ireland.

Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon. Mrs. Ireland and Mrs. Pash were assisted in the hospitalities by Mrs. Nancy Roberts, Mrs. Bonnie Arnold, Mrs. Carrie Irvin, Mrs. Ella Arnold and Mrs. Clara Cole.

Mrs. John Glenn, Mrs. Jerome Dick, Miss Sallie Bybee, Mrs. Mary Buzick and Mrs. Lida Mayer were additional guests.

Mr. L. C. Anderson, of Columbus, was a business visitor in this city Wednesday and Thursday.

In honor of the Gold Star mothers, the annual pot luck supper and entertainment sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Wednesday night at Memorial Hall was a most successful affair. Four Gold Star mothers responded to the invitation. Mrs. Mada Mughey, Mrs. C. C. Hard, Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Shelman, and were given the seats of honor during the supper and meeting of the Post and Auxiliary.

The Poppy Day posters, made by the children of the grade schools of the city, furnished an interesting exhibit during the supper hour and attracted most favorable comment for the cleverness and originality of design. The winning posters will be shown later in local store windows, it was announced.

After the regular business meeting of the Auxiliary in the club rooms, the members of the Legion Post and guests joined the women in the auditorium for a delightful entertainment of music, tap dancing and a splendid Mothers Day talk by Rev. A. K. Wilson. Carnations were presented to the women by the Legion as favors.

The entertainment, in charge of Mrs. Rex Pittinger, included violin duets by Helen Brown and Phyllis Pittinger, vocal solos by Virginia White and Martha West, reading by Ann Moore, specialty dances by Helen Brown, Jane Pittinger, Peggy and Phyllis Pittinger and a very interesting paper on Poppy Day by Mrs. Naylor Russell, chairman of the annual Poppy Day sale.

Rev. A. K. Wilson presented a splendid talk on Mothers Day and the importance of mothers in world affairs. "The future of America and the world depends upon the mothers, and behind every great man of history we find a mother's influence," said Mr. Wilson. His talk included comments on world peace and the defense of the stars and stripes, and was most appropriate for the occasion. Commander Walter Hutton presided during the evening.

A party of women from the New Holland Legion Auxiliary, who were guests for the meeting, included Mrs. Mabel Louis, Mrs. Harold Speakman, Mrs. Ollie Armstrong, Mrs. Sam Armstrong, Mrs. Leo Skinner, Mrs. Audrey Renick, Mrs. Martha Stewart, Mrs. Agnes Helfrich, Miss Lillie Briggs and Miss Nellie Gilmer.

The supper and entertainment were in charge of a committee including Mrs. Clara Louise Boren, Mrs. Marie Smith, Mrs. Hazel Dunn, Mrs. Mary Russell and Mrs. Polly Ann Reed.

Mrs. Frank E. Haines was hostess to the Sugar Grove W.C.T.U. Wednesday afternoon and as president of the organization presided over the business session. Mrs. Lucetta Patton conducted the devotionals and Mrs. Hallie Davis was in charge of a Mothers Day program.

Interesting papers were read by Mrs. C. B. Stroud, Mrs. Ethel Cavine, Mrs. Lucetta Patton and Miss Minnie Brakefield.

During the social hour, the hostess served delicious refreshments assisted by Mrs. Patton.

The Washington Lumber Co. had arrangements in charge for the regular dinner and meeting of the Retail Lumbermen's Association of this district. The affair was held at the Cherry Hotel with dinner served in the private dining room.

A business discussion followed.

Mrs. Bradley E. Johnson was hostess to her bridge club Wednesday afternoon for a pleasurable session and included Mrs. Judith S. Robinson as a guest with the members. The club assembled at the Cherry Hotel for an especially tempting luncheon at 1:00 o'clock and was seated at an attractive circular table, centered with variegated tulips.

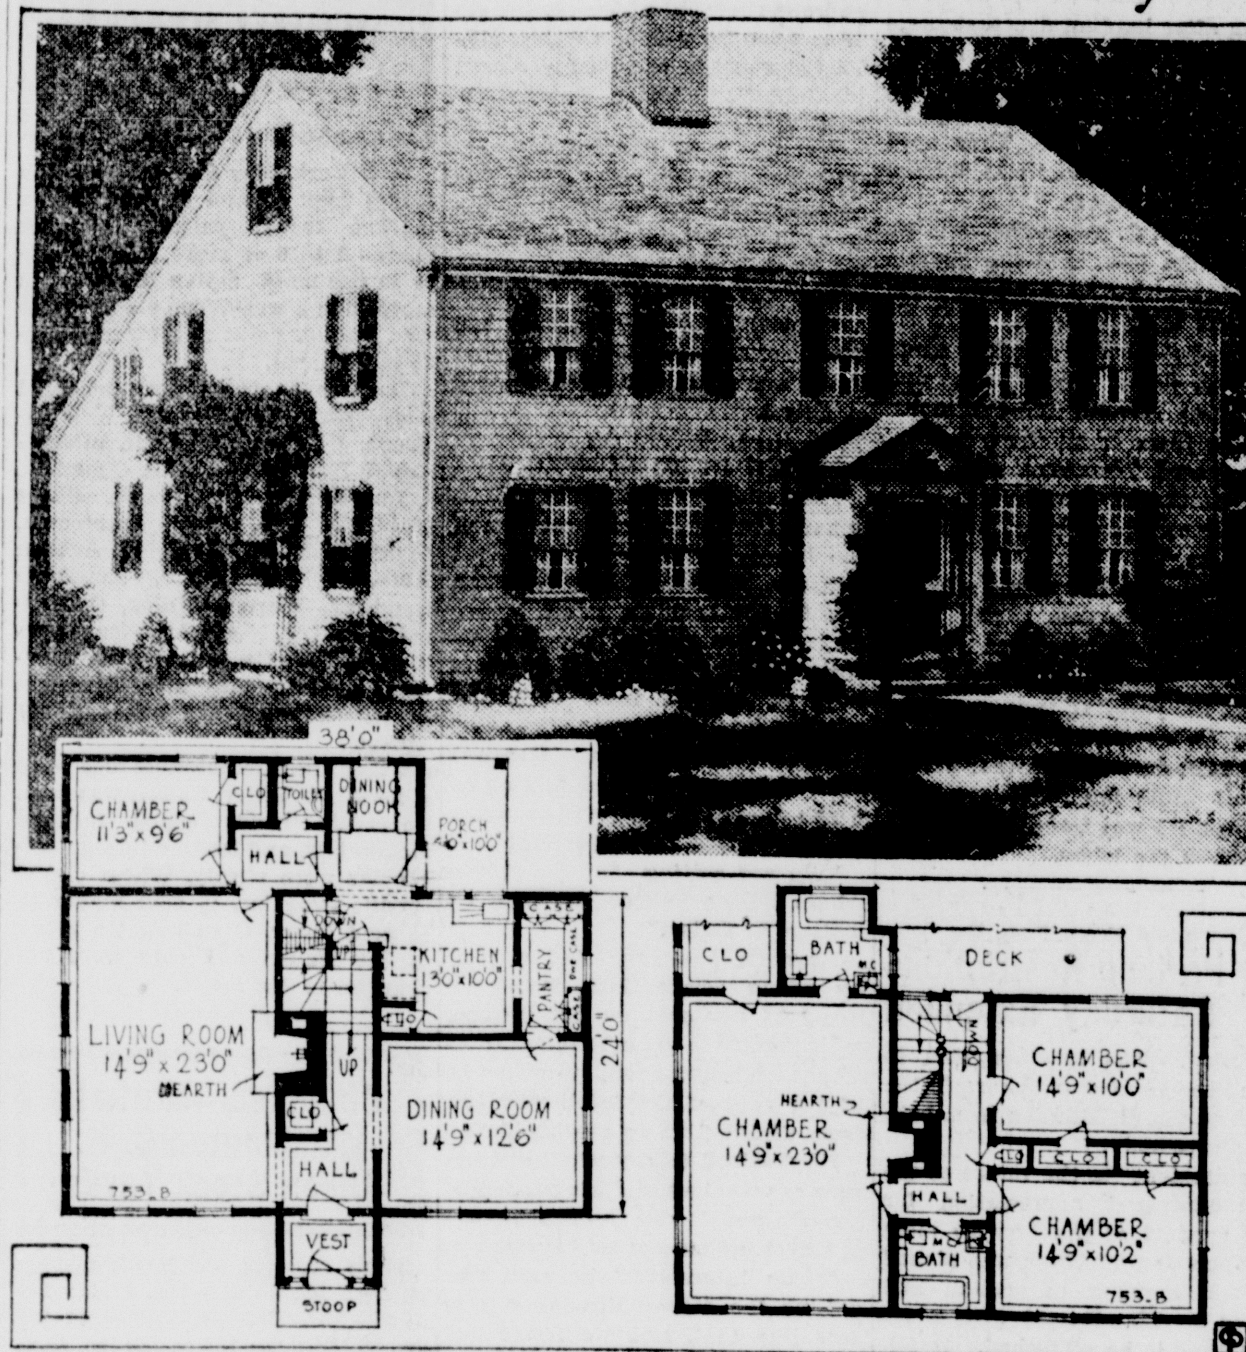

Later for the afternoon's bridge game, the party adjourned to Mrs. Johnson's home.

Mrs. James Barbour (nee Marguerite Kneisley) of Columbus, who has been visiting with her mother, Mrs. J. A. McClain since Sunday, left Wednesday morning to join her husband in Dayton, where they will make their new home. Mr. Barbour is now associated with the Van Cleave Hotel in that city.

Mrs. H. L. Ryland and daughter, Miss Dorothy, returned to their home in Bucyrus, Wednesday, after a couple of days' visit with their daughter and sister, Mrs. John Forsythe, and Mr. Forsythe.

Mrs. R. H. Julian is moving Friday from the Willis apartment at the corner of North and Temple streets to the Charles Tharp apartment on South North street.

Seven Rooms in Colonial Style

IN THIS house, containing seven rooms, is embodied the spirit of early colonial architecture. It is a home of quiet dignity and lasting charm.

Homes of this type were originally built in Cape Cod, but they now are found in every village and city of America.

The chamber downstairs, behind the living room, will be found a great convenience in case the household employs a maid, or it is an invaluable convenience in case of serious illness in the family saving many steps, especially as there is a toilet adjoining.

The dining nook off the porch, at the back of the house, is also a pleasant arrangement, with a garden view. The living room is large, 23 feet by 14 feet nine inches and contains a fireplace. The master bedroom, directly above it, is the same size. Two other chambers and two baths complete the upper story.

The house contains 34,200 cubic feet of space.

Vagrant Ban Not New

Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—Los Angeles' border patrol against vagrants was nothing new, said Professor Arthur P. McKinley of the University of California. He cited similar action by the Roman Emperor Caracalla in 215 A. D.

Movie Actor Lee Tracy punched cattle in Colorado when he was 18 for his board and $30 a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jacobs and children moved Thursday morning from the A. O. Clark double on Forest street to the Vincent property on the corner of Main and Paint streets.

Mrs. Robert B. Palmer, who motored up from Cincinnati with a party Thursday to attend the country club luncheon-bridge, is remaining the guest of Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Hughey over the week end.

Mr. R. C. Evick motored down from Columbus Thursday evening for a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, and to motor Mrs. Evick and son, Glenn, back to Columbus, Mrs. Evick coming down for Mrs. Rodgers' party Thursday. Mrs. Fred Schmid and daughter, Miss Katherine Mae, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Evick to Columbus, leaving Friday for their home in Cleveland.

Mrs. Samuel A. Nelson and daughter, Julia Ann, of Hamilton, who motored up to attend the funeral of Mrs. Nelson's aunt, Mrs. Jerome Taylor, remained over Thursday with her grandmother, Mrs. Ella Thompson, and other relatives.

Among relatives and friends from a distance here Wednesday to attend the funeral services for Mrs. Jerome Taylor were Mrs. S. H. Belcher, a sister, and Mr. Belcher, of Bluefield, W. Va., Mr. R. S. Steele and family, of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Estel Steele, Mrs. Hoffman Mitchell, of Springfield, Mrs. John Brandt, Mrs. Frank Vetter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Manning and family, of Columbus, Mrs. Charles Bellar, Mrs. Fred Hicks, Mrs. John Cole and Mrs. Herman Wiser, of Dayton, Mrs. Samuel A. Nelson, of Hamilton, Mrs. Presley Caldwell, of Richmondale, Mrs. Mattie Drais, of Mt. Sterling.

Mrs. Clayton V. Lanum returned Wednesday afternoon from Columbus, where she has been visiting her daughters, Mrs. Claude Post and Mrs. Hugh Kennedy since the last of the week.

Mrs. S. M. Parrett, of Mt. Sterling, O., was among Wednesday's out of town shoppers in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Browning and Mrs. Morris S. Baker motored to Georgetown, Wednesday evening, to bring Joanne and Barbara Browning home from a visit with Mrs. Browning's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Eylar.

Mrs. L. Loring Brock left Thursday morning for Columbia, Mo., to visit at Stevens College.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Ricketts, accompanied by Mrs. Ricketts' mother, Mrs. H. W. Shollenbarger, of Columbus, motored to Hamilton Thursday for the wedding of a cousin, Miss Dorothy Shollenbarger, and Mr. Julius Hilz. Mr. and Mrs. Ricketts are acting as best man and matron of honor.

Miss Lucile Peters, of Peebles, O., was a shopping visitor in this city Wednesday.

Miss Juanita Hayes is visiting for several days with her aunt, Mrs. Alfred DeMers, in Columbus, while recuperating from a sinus operation performed Monday at Dr. Stewart's hospital in Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoy O. Simons spent several days in Mt. Vernon, visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Harry V. Smoots, and in Fredericktown this week.

Baked Apples

Wash and core sour apples. With a sharp knife cut a line through the skin around the middle of each apple. This will prevent the skin bursting as the apples cook. Allow a quarter of a tea spoon of cinnamon to five apples. Fill the cavities with this mixture, place in a baking dish, and cover the bottom of the dish with hot water. Bake in a hot oven, basting occasionally with the syrup. More water may be added as needed.

BUTTER COMES IN CANS

AT THIS WOMAN'S FARM Arapaho, Okla. (AP)—The milk-producing moods of the family cows doesn't affect the butter-making of Mrs. Witcher Hatcher. She cans the fresh milk and makes the butter when needed.

Mrs. Hatcher cans milk by processing fresh cream in quart jars at 15 pounds pressure for 30 minutes. The cream will turn pinkish in the jars, but will keep indefinitely. The butter has a fresh taste, but the milk has a "condensed" flavor, she reported.

If you feel tired run down nervous and out of sorts

There is usually a definite reason for such complaints...so, now let's reason sensibly. Don't try to get well in a day...this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried. But there is a certain scientific way you can assist by starting those digestive juices in the stomach to flowing more freely and at the same time supply a balanced mineral deficiency the body needs.

Therefore, if you are pale, tired, lack a keen appetite, have lost weight and feel rundown...a frequent sign that your blood-cells are weak, with a tendency towards anemia—they do try in the simple, easy way so many millions approve—by starting a course of S.S.S. Blood Tonic.

Much more could be said—a trial will thoroughly convince you that this way, in the absence of any organic trouble, will start you on the road to feeling like yourself again. © S.S.S. Co.

LABOR AGENT KILLED BY SHOTGUN CHARGE FIRED THROUGH WINDOW OF HOME IN CLEVELAND

Police Study Letter of Warning He Received Several Days Ago in Hunt for Slayer

Cleveland, O., May 14—(AP)—Detectives investigated the origin today of a warning letter received several days ago by Arthur White-lock, 33, business agent of the Ice, Coal and Water Wagon Drivers Union who was shot and killed last night as he sat in the living room of his home.

Charles O. Nevel, acting detective inspector, refused to reveal the entire contents of the letter, but it was known that it warned the union official that somebody was "out to get" him.

The letter was found in a safe at headquarters of the Union after White-lock's associates had told police about it.

Inspector Nevel and Sergeant James Hogan, in charge of the police homicide squad, said they had found a witness who could identify the killers.

White-lock had kissed his daughter, Doris, 4, good night only a few minutes before he was shot. He was sitting in an arm chair listening to the radio when the shotgun charge came through a front window, striking him on the upper left side of the body. The killer apparently stood on the front porch. Police said a shotgun shell was found there.

Other Union officials in Cleveland were unable to offer a motive for the killing of White-lock.

In June, 1934, White-lock was sentenced to a 90-day term in the workhouse and ordered to pay the costs of two convictions for assault and battery and malicious destruction of property. Police charged he tipped over a furniture truck and beat the driver.

White-lock was questioned by police in several other assault cases and about six months ago he was indicted with two others by the county grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill in connection with an attack on a policeman. The indictment was appealed.

DR. W. H. WILLIS OF WASHINGTON C. H. BACK IN U. S. FROM AFRICAN MISSION, KNOWN AS "THE CUTTER" TO NATIVES

(Special to The Herald)

Boston, Mass., May 14—A husky young American physician, Dr. Willis Hegler Willis, just reached Boston from Mt. Silinda, Southern Rhodesia, Africa, where the Ndu people call him "Mufeteki," which in Chindau, the native tongue, means "The Cutter," and is highly complimentary to his skill as a surgeon. This is his first return to America for seven years and he brings back not alone a conviction of the worthwhileness of his work, but a charming wife, (Estelle Florence Brent of Southern Rhodesia) and four children, Peter, Marie, and the twins, Ann and David.

Dr. Willis, who is the son of Mrs. Carrie B. Willis of Washington C. H., Ohio, is serving under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. Speaking Chindau, Dr. Willis, through his work and personality, has won the confidence of the native people, who, being very human, are terrified at the use of a knife or anything that savors of "an operation."

His initiation into his new field, after a course in the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, England, was an operation performed in the bush country on a rickety native table which Dr. Willis's co-workers feared would collapse at any moment! But it did not, and the patient sat up and ate soon after the operation. A stalk of grain had pierced her leg and been allowed to remain four months until the limb was badly infected.

"Malaria accounts for the greatest number of our patients with many cases also of respiratory, venereal and tropical diseases," says Dr. Willis. "Maternity work has increased and there is tremendous need for pre-natal and well-baby clinics as well as simple hygiene and health work in the kraals. What I need badly, and earnestly hope I may be able to secure before my return to Africa, is an X-ray machine."

"We cared for over 1,000 patients in our 28-bed hospital, completed this year, and I traveled more than 8,000 miles by car on medical work," says Dr. Willis. His hospital, the Willis F. Pierce Memorial Hospital, is second to none in medical mission institutions of Southern Rhodesia. It has done pioneer work in training native nurses and Miss Edith J. Fuller, R. N., who headed up this school, was recently in Boston, but is now back on the job in Mt. Silinda.

"We admire and desire earnestly to help our Ndu people and our native workers and nurses in their endeavors to serve their own people," says Dr. Willis. "They have never shirked their duties or complained. In spite of slow progress in medical work in Africa, due to native superstition, lethargy and ignorance, we find high courage to continue because of our contracts with these boys and girls and the tremendous need which we see on all sides."

Added duties of this young surgeon who took his internship at Woman's Hospital, Cleveland and the Cleveland City Hospital, later becoming its Assistant Resident Surgeon, are those of Medical Officer for a radius of 50 miles and Government Medical Officer when the occasion demands. He also cared for some 500 European patients last year, which, while helping some on the hospital's budget, was an additional drain on the strength and time of the missionary doctor.

Dr. Willis is a graduate of Denison University and Western Reserve University (M. D.) and was commissioned in the Center Congregational Church of New Haven, Connecticut, which he represents in Africa, by Dr. Rockwell Harmon Potter, Dean of Hartford Theological Seminary and President of the American Board.

She Married Karpis

Mrs. Grace Goldstein, above, 30-year-old blonde, told authorities in Hot Springs, Ark., that she married Alvin Karpis, erstwhile Public Enemy No. 1, in New York City last September. She said the two lived under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Woods until his capture in New Orleans by federal agents. Karpis was a good husband, she said.

MRS. JEROME TAYLOR FUNERAL SERVICES

A great many relatives and friends filled the Kiever Funeral Home, Wednesday afternoon, for the funeral services held for Mrs. Jerome Taylor, conducted by Rev. A. K. Wilson, pastor of Grace M. E. Church.

Rev. Wilson read comforting words from the Scriptures, offered prayer, delivered a short sermon and spoke in high terms of the life of Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Hiram Hitchcock sang "Abide With Me," Mrs. Kiever being at the piano, and also playing softly at the beginning and again at the close of the services.

There was a wealth of lovely floral gifts, and these were cared for by Mrs. Forrest Ellis, Mrs. Willard Keenan, Mrs. Albert Briggs, Mrs. Frank Vetter, and Miss Amelia Pensyl. Interment was made in the Washington cemetery beside her late husband.

The pallbearers were: Cliff Reid, Earl Johnson, Morris Baker, Edgar Snyder, O. S. Minton and A. W. Duff.

French Door Bell Pests Barred By 'Spy Mirror'

Lille, France (AP)—New houses in this region of France are being equipped with a device which goes back to the middle ages—the "spy mirror."

No home in the Lille area is complete without its little "espion," placed outside the door to permit the occupants of the home to see who is on the doorstep before opening the door. The device operates like the chauffeur's mirror of an automobile.

Should the mirror disclose a beggar, a peddler, a bore, a bill-collector or some other unwelcome person, the door is not opened.

"PRINCESS ALICE" GOES TO CONVENTION

Washington, (AP)—Alice Roosevelt Longworth's victory in Tuesday's Ohio primaries will give her a chance at active participation in her 11th national convention. She was only an onlooker at the others. The daughters of the famous "T. R." won her convention seat on the ticket of Robert Taft, one-time political foe of her father. She also ran against the ticket of William E. Borah, an old friend.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, the beginning of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

GRANGE MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT

SEVERAL CANDIDATES ARE INITIATED

The members of Forest Shade Grange were hosts Wednesday evening, May 13, to Good Hope, Selden and Marshall Granges. Willard Sears, Robert Owens, Virgil Speakman, Conner Allen, and Eugene Gravit from Marshall Grange, and Mrs. Inez McDonald and Harriette McDonald from Selden Grange were given the obligations of the first and second degrees. Then the third degree was conferred by a team from Marshall Grange on these candidates in addition to twenty-six others who had previously received the first and second degrees. The group benighted consisted of fifteen from Selden Grange, seven from Good Hope Grange, six from Forest Shade Grange and five from Marshall Grange. Following this the fourth degree was exemplified by Forest Shade Grange.

After the work, at the request of the Worthy Master, several of the new members related their impressions of the Grange ritual. Those responding were: Ravilla Thomas, Mrs. Hazel Weade, Harold Gleadall.

Harry Sileott and John Weade, Frank Grubbs read a poem that was very appropriate to Grange work and farm life. Refreshments were served by the Patrons of Forest Shade Grange.

CHILD'S SKULL IS FRACTURED

In Auto Crash at Bad Intersection

Leonard Morris, aged five, sustained a fractured skull and cuts and bruises, at the noon hour Thursday, when he was hurled violently from a Ford car which collided with another car at the North and Paint street intersection.

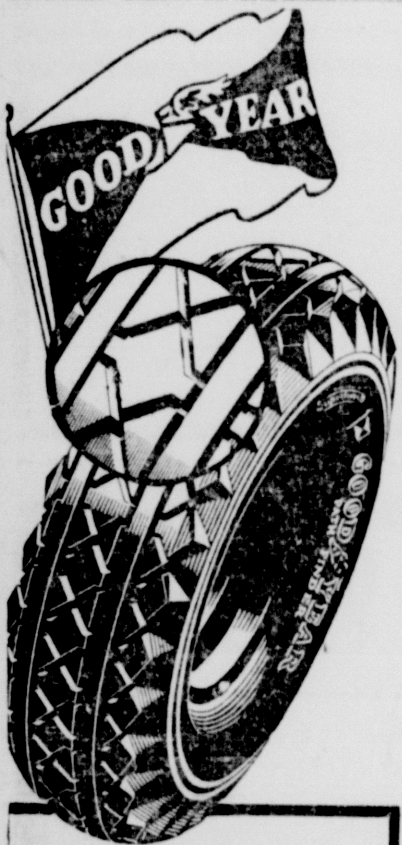

The Ford was owned by the boy's father, Floyd Morris of the North Shore addition, and driven by Leonard's older brother, Chester aged about 16 years.

The Morris car was headed south in North street and was swinging west into Paint street at a rapid rate of speed when the car collided with a machine owned by Elza Blade, this city, who was accompanied by his daughter. Blade was traveling East in Paint street.

The impact threw Leonard out. He was taken to Dr. J. M. Harsha's office and his wounds cared for. An X ray picture showed a skull fracture, which is not expected to prove serious.

Both cars were damaged.

DEMOCRATS ENDORSE NEW DEAL AND OHIO G. O. P. IS "REGULAR"

Durbin, the runner-up, was trailing Mosier by 30,000 votes and McSweeney by 36,000.

For the two Republican positions, George H. Bender, and L. L. Marshall, both of Cleveland, were safe in the lead of Raymond J. Jeffreys of Cleveland by 45,000 and 10,000 respectively, in 7,922 precincts.

Jeffreys, the runner-up in this race, had the endorsement of the National Union for Social Justice.

The Republican regulars' sweep of delegate-at-large candidates pledged to Ohio's "favorite son," Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, was complete.

Daniel E. Morgan of Cleveland, highest man on the Borah slate, polled 20,000 fewer votes than the lowest Taft man, Frank M. Ransbottom of Zanesville.

Borah supporters had entered only 28 district and seven delegates at large candidates, the regulars a complete slate. "Thus 17 'favorite son' candidates went in unopposed, Borah supporters' victories were in the Akron industrial and three other districts.

The delegates are nominally committed to support at the convention the candidate to whom they are pledged, but they are free under law and custom to vote as they wish. Usually they wrote for their declared choice on at least the first ballot.

Pleas for harmony came from both sides of the fence as soon as the trend was definite.

Republican State Chairman Ed D. Schorr, leader of the regular organization, said he hoped "any animosities" which the primary might have engendered "may now be forgotten in the interest of party success in November."

Congressman Young said in Washington after his defeat by Davey:

"Now with the primary contest behind us, all Democrats and independent voters will join together to present a united front and carry Ohio for President Roosevelt and for the entire Democratic state ticket from Governor Davey down the line."

In other state office races, the following were apparent or certain winners:

Goernor—Atty. Gen. John W. Bricker, Republican, unopposed.

Lieutenant Governor—Senate floor leader Paul P. Yoder of Eaton, Democrat, leading house speaker J. Freer Bittinger of Ashland by nearly 10,000 votes. Paul M. Herbert of Columbus, Republican, far ahead of a field of four.

Secretary of State—William J. Kennedy of Cleveland, Democrat. Earl Griffith of Mount Gilead, Republican.

Auditor of State—Joseph T. Ferguson, Democrat. Joseph T. Tracy, Republican incumbent, unopposed.

Treasurer of State—Clarence Knisley of Bainbridge, Democrat, unopposed. Harry S. Day, Republican incumbent.

Attorney General—Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus, Democrat. Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland, Republican.

Former Congressman John McSweeney of Wooster and Lieut. Gov. Harold G. Mosier of Cleveland, the latter once a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, held solid leads for the two Democratic nominations for congressman-at-large.

George H. Bender and L. L. Marshall of Cleveland apparently had the Republican nominations clinched.

FREEDOM SHORT FOR BAD BOYS

near Delaware for $2 in cash and a gallon of gasoline. He remained silent, Edwards said, under threat of a further slugging.

Fulton and Edwards were let out of the car in different sections of Cleveland. The latter notified police to watch for his car. The vehicle was located at the rear of a home in the negro district.

Patrolmen awaited the fugitives' return as a patrol wagon sped past on a nearby street. The negroes, alarmed, dashed from the house, one rushing to the stolen auto, the other entering the house. He was found beneath a bed.

Edwards left for Lancaster, saying he would obtain warrants charging the pair with robbery.

LARGEST MELON PATCH PLANTED

Melvin, May 14—The G. W. Hewitt and Sons melon patch at this point just off the CCC highway, contains 24,000 hills, Hewitt announced today, and is said to be the largest in central Ohio.

The patch contains both water and musk melons, and if the season is favorable will produce tens of thousands of melons.

LIFE IN PRISON FOR ROBINSON

Kidnap of Louisville Woman Will Never Be Eligible for Parole

Atlanta, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—The last of the kidnapers of the "big money" abduction era of 1933-35 to be captured was hustled under heavy guard today to the steel and stone of Atlanta Federal penitentiary.

Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., 29, under sentence of life imprisonment, was put aboard a train for Atlanta at Louisville, Ky., late yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of kidnaping Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll in 1934 for $50,000 ransom.

His arraignment and sentence by Federal Judge Elwood Hamilton came within 48 hours of his arrest by Federal agents in Glendale, Calif.

Arraignment of the elusive Robinson, who evaded capture for 19 months while spending the ransom freely in night clubs and "hot spots" from one side of the nation to the other, was delayed await arrival from Nashville, Tenn., of his father and mother.

The parents, after earlier urging an insanity plea to escape a possible sentence to death in the electric chair, were reported to have counseled the confession in hopes their son might win a parole after serving 15 years. Federal officials said, however, Robinson never would be eligible for parole.

Mrs. Stoll, wife of a wealthy oil executive, was beaten by her captor during her imprisonment in an Indianapolis apartment, which would permit a death sentence under the Lindbergh law.

Judge Hamilton ordered "that you be confined for the term of your natural life."

An insanity plea from Robinson would not have been surprising to officials as he twice has been committed to state institutions for the insane.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR FRANK MYERS

Largely attended funeral services for Frank Myers, former well known Fayette county farmer, were held Wednesday afternoon at the Hook Funeral Home.

Rev. J. A. Goddard, of the Church of Christ, conducted the services. Rev. Goddard, as part of the services, read the hymns "Sometime We'll Understand" and "Abide With Me" and "Crossing The Bar." There were many beautiful floral gifts.

Interment was made in the Bloomingburg cemetery.

The pallbearers were: C. P. Myers, George Gardner, M. D. Plummer, Hiram Welty, Jess Lininger and Will Andrews.

FUNERAL HELD FOR MRS. HOWE

Accompanied by many relatives and friends the body of Mrs. Messenger Howe was taken from her late home in this city, Thursday morning, to Savageville, in Jackson county, where largely attended funeral services were held. Rev. Maple conducted the services and the church choir sang three hymns.

Interment was made in the Pearce cemetery, near Jackson, beside her husband who had been buried there last week.

The pallbearers were: Oscar, George, William, Pearl, Harry and Franklin Howe.

SHOPLIFTER IS PLACED IN "JUG"

An itinerant auto top painter who had been about the city a day or two, was picked up and turned over to the police after he is alleged to have stolen two pairs of hose from the Murphy store, shortly after noon Thursday.

The man made some small purchase and as he was passing the hosiery counter stuffed two pairs of hose in his pocket. He was detected by an alert clerk, and a few minutes later was rounded up and the police called.

The man had been drinking and was unable to give his name. He was "dead to the world" soon after being placed in the city jail.

BAUGHN BEATEN

John Baughn, former resident of Fayette county, now on his third term as Sheriff of Greene county, was defeated for renomination by William Fudge, the vote standing: Fudge 3,528, Baughn 2,490.

BORAH HAS G. O. P. BOSSES WORRIED ABOUT FUTURE

Plea for Harmony Made After Ohio Primary But Effect is Doubtful

By EDWARD J. DUFFY

Washington, May 14—(AP)—Senator Borah's latest attack on the Republican leadership had many in the capital guessing today about his intentions in the Cleveland convention next month and thereafter.

His statement, in comment on the reverse he suffered in his primary contest with the regular party organization in Ohio on Tuesday, said negro voters had been told "the Republican party will pass the (Wagner-Costigan) anti-lynching bill."

The Idahoan has opposed this legislation on grounds of unconstitutionality. He said it "strikes at the very heart of state sovereignty."

He asserted that by advocating it, the men "who are in control of the party and who will likely be in control of the convention, will write its platform and name its candidate, have already demonstrated they are nothing about constitutional integrity or the prevention of state's rights, that their talk on this subject is hypocritical and in factually dishonest."

Although the last major Republican primary contest has passed, leaders seemed little nearer agreement today about the prospects for Cleveland than in months past.

Of the 860 delegates so far selected, 719 are unbound.

None of the possibilities for the presidential nomination has claimed a delegate strength approaching the necessary majority, 501 of the 1,601 total.

Supporters of Governor Landon of Kansas have predicted his nomination on an early ballot, however, against him some of the Borah leaders have been outspoken.

Forces favoring Col. Frank Knox of Illinois or Borah, among others, have conceded nothing to the claims of Landon men.

Knox, continuing his campaign with an address last night at Seattle, declared he stood "uncompromisingly for a budget to be balanced immediately."

With convention-time drawing nearer the Democrats are working to line up an all-Roosevelt demonstration. Six delegates to be named today in Vermont will bring the list to date to 640 of the 1,190 total.

SOW 1,000,000 IOWA ACRES IN GRASS AS PART OF U. S. SOIL SAVING PLAN

Corn Production Is Estimated Same as Last Year

By ENOCH A. NOREM

Mason City, Iowa—More than 1,000,000 Iowa acres are estimated to have been taken out of grain crops this spring and put into grass, indicating the swift progress of the soil conservation program.

Corn acreage in the state this year will be approximately the same as of 1935, the number of acres going into grass approximating the acreage taken out of production by the AAA program last year. There will be more corn, however, than in 1934 when a large reduction in acreage was effective under the government program.

Grass Seed Goes Up
Conservative estimates place the amount of land taken out of soil-depleting crops and sown to red clover, sweet clover, alfalfa and timothy in each of the 99 counties of Iowa at from 10,000 to 12,000 acres.

All over the countryside farmers have been at work sowing grass with other spring crops. Grass seed has jumped materially in price.

It is estimated that 75 per cent of the farmers in this vicinity entered the soil conservation program this spring, with many more planning to come in next year when they will be able to adjust their farms to the new program. Insurance companies and other landlords are generally heartily in favor of the plan that will conserve soil and reduce the possibility of producing a surplus of grains.

A typical scene in Iowa as farmers sow more than a million acres of grass seed in conformity with the soil conservation program. A farmer is shown sowing red clover on 1935 corn land.

Livestock Better Fed
The result of the program will be not only conservation of soil but better pastures and better appearing livestock, according to County Agent Marion E. Olson of Cerro Gordo county. From 70 to 90 per cent of the pastures in this section, he said, have been overgrazed in recent years.

"Cattle will be better fed," Olson added. "The use of more grass will bring about a balance that is essential in the production of livestock, a balance that we have been more and more in need of for several years."

To get the maximum of benefit under the soil conservation plan a farmer must seed at least 15 per cent of his soil-depleting crops, such as corn and oats, into hay land.

Operations of farmers this spring indicate that the soil conservation program is reasonably effective as successor to the invalidated AAA program. While the other brought more ready cash to the farmer in a time of dire emergency, the feeling is growing that the present program is the right track to solution of the agricultural problem of Iowa.

Snake Catcher Blames Drought For Shortage

McCombs, Tex. (AP)—Rattlesnakes are scarce this year in this section of Texas, says P. L. Brown, veteran reptile hunter, who has begun his annual "rattler roundup." He blames the drought which killed rabbits and birds, chief snake food.

Brown's current catch numbers only eight, ranging from four to five and one-half feet long. He believes he has killed 3,000 in the last 10 years, but never has been bitten. He uses a hook to pick up the snake. Then he snips off its fangs with pliers.

Just Against Borah

Tuesday's primary election results settled, at least for the time being, a good many controversial matters but none of them, it seems to us was more emphatically settled, and this one was for all time, too, than that the great majority of the republican voters of Ohio do not desire Senator William E. Borah as their party's candidate for president.

The actual fact is that no one was really running against Borah in the primary, because Taft was a mere figurehead for the organization. That makes the overwhelming defeat of Borah most emphatic.

Years ago when a group of political leaders were airing their objections to one particular candidate, the only candidate for the office he sought, and seeking ways to defeat him, one practical minded man among them said—I have been in many political battles but, gentlemen I have never yet seen someone defeated by no one.

And that was true "up to that time" and until last Tuesday's primary election when Borah was defeated by nobody.

The republican presidential primary vote was just against Borah—not for anyone, really, and that's what marks the result as so decisive an expression of opposition.

Vacation Tours on Our Rivers

After overlooking them for a number of years, years in which they should have been enjoying them, people of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys are becoming mindful of the beauties and charms of their rivers—the Kentucky, the Tennessee, the Cumberland, the Big Sandy, the Kanawha and others, in addition to the Ohio and the Mississippi.

No more ideally enjoyable vacation tour could be planned, near at home or far away, than a tour of our rivers. In all the world, travelled persons assert, there is no more beautiful river than the Ohio, with its abundant expanse of water, navigable now all the year round since it has been provided with dams and locks, its broad sweeping "bends" wooded hills that come, at times, to the water's edge, the prosperous cities and towns the fertile valley lands and highly cultivated farms that frame it.

Unfortunately the famous old steamboats are no longer, with one or two exceptions, making regular runs, but in the place of the steamboats have come the motor boats, ideal for "chugging" up the tributary rivers where the steamboats would be unable to go.

Nothing could be more delightful than a motor boat tour of the Ohio in spring, summer or fall making side trips up the tributaries and back again to the broad Ohio. Of course the boat should be well "provisioned" and the party should be congenial.

It's a High Light

Another highlight in the primary elections Tuesday, it seems to us, was the approval by the voters in many cities and towns throughout the state, of special tax levy proposals and special bond issue proposals. In few, if in any of the many, places in the state where such proposals were submitted to the voters did the results record a negative.

That is not only positive proof of the return of prosperity, the ability of the voters to see their way through with the added costs but it is, at the same time, an expression of confidence in the ability and honesty of officials. The very best proof that confidence is back again.

These extra tax levies approved by the people are, in most places as is true here, to take care of accumulated indebtedness due to the depression and to make possible intelligent refinancing in public affairs.

The hope is that the people will not—now that conditions are so much improved—grow over-confident and that officials will not grow extravagant. That's what should be avoided. It led to trouble before and it will again unless we watch our step.

Charles P. Stewart Says:

"Dog Food" Speech Hits Dickinson Boom

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, May 14.—The smallest things can inflate or puncture a presidential boom.

Senator L. J. Dickinson's boom was not such a big one. Still, the Iowan classified as a Republican dark horse with some few possibilities. No list of candidates for the G. O. P. nomination was considered complete unless his name was on it.

Now he is referred to in Washington as "Dog Food Dickinson". What chance does any man stand of being named for the presidency handicapped with such a nickname as "Dog Food"?

STRIKING APPEARANCE

The appellation is particularly ridiculous in association with a personality like Senator Dickinson's.

The senator is an impressive-looking individual—bulky, white haired and handsome. He has a fine oratorical delivery. So far as appearance is concerned, and lung-power, and maybe ability, he should be a creditable candidate for any exalted office.

But what an anti-climax when, as surely would happen in the midst of any address he undertook to make, if some hoodlum in the audience yelled, "Dog Food".

WHERE BLAME LIES

The Republican publicity staff wished the "Dog Food" curse upon Dickinson, quite unintentionally—unintentionally as a curse, that is to say.

The G. O. P. publicity folk meant well by the senator. They thought up the yarn to the effect that "many Americans" are so hard up that they are compelled to live on canned dog food. They needed a very prominent person to broadcast this story in a way to attract a maximum of attention. And they hit on the Hawkeye statesman to do it, from the senate floor. They approved of him because he is exceptionally sonorous and they reckoned that he would give it a good send-off. They thought they were doing him a favor. The speech would add to his prestige, according to their calculations.

It might have done so if the publicity experts had been satisfied to supply Dickinson with the necessary "dog food" (raw) material and let him attend to the rest of it.

But they did not. They tried to help him.

A BLUNDER

In the first place, they wrote his speech for him.

Then they wrote an article describing the breathless, horrified fashion in which a crowded senate listened to him. They mentioned the cans of dog food on the Iowan's desk, as he spoke.

Next they combined speech and description, mimeographed them

VERY NARROW MARGIN BUT IT WAS DEFEAT

Columbus, O.—(P)—A margin of 53 votes among 67,000 cast spelled defeat for a proposed 2.4-mill levy for the city of Columbus, complete of Tuesday's voting showed Thursday. The levy was proposed after Mayor Myron B. Gossamen cut the fire and police forces in half following defeat of a 3-mill levy in February.

and distributed copies to the press—before the speech had been delivered.

Several of these copies fell into the hands of Democratic senators—prematurely. When Dickinson got up to speak they absented themselves. There wasn't a corporal's guard present while Dickinson was speaking. There were no dog food cans on the Iowan's desk, either.

SATIRICAL COMMENT

Dickinson having finished, Senator James E. Byrnes, South Carolina Democrat and New Dealer, put into the Congressional Record a copy of one of the advance accounts prepared by the G. O. P. publicity experts—as anticipated, but as it did not eventuate.

He put in some satirical comment also.

Immediately afterward, dog food producers saw their chance for some first-class advertising. They began to explain that their stuff is plenty good enough for human consumption. One of them in Washington, gave a dog food banquet, from soup to nuts, to the newspaper correspondents. It was good, too.

POOR ADVERTISING

All this was poor advertising for the G. O. P.

Not that human beings ought to have to eat dog food, but the whole proposition was ridiculous—the worst imaginable thing in politics.

The Republican high command showed its realization of it by hiring a new publicity agent—Bruce Barton, advertising man and author, to do his best to improve the G. O. P.'s publicity. It needs it.

10-MONTHS-OLD CHILD IS TO BE OPERATED ON

Cincinnati, Ohio.—(P)—Surgeons planned Thursday to operate on ten-months old Nancy Vanderculen for the removal of an open safety pin from her throat. The pin lodged there Wednesday as the child played in her home, and defied efforts to close or remove it.

THE FLAG GOES BY

Hats off—
Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums,
A flash of color beneath the sky:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by—

Blue and crimson and white it shines,
Over the steel-tipped ordered lines,
Hats off!
The colors before us fly:
But more than the flag is passing by:

Sea fights and land fights, grim and great,
Fought to make and to save the State:

Wearily marches and sinking ships;
Cheers of victory on dying lips:

Days of plenty and years of peace;
March of a strong land's swift increase;
Equal justice, right and law,
Stately honor and reverend awe:

Sign of a nation, great and strong
To ward her people from foreign wrong:

Pride and glory and honor—all
Live in the colors to stand or fall.

Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums;
And loyal hearts are beating high:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!

High Spots In Ohio History

From the Galbraith collection of Ohio Histories. Written for the Associated Press.

Although Gov. Robert Lucas of Pike county was an outstanding character in the lower Scioto valley, the name seems to have wholly disappeared from that section except as it lives in the name of Lucasville, a village in his honor.

Governor Lucas was married twice and had eight children. Although known as an upright man and a stickler for justice, he became unpopular.

When he was appointed territorial governor of Iowa, Governor Lucas sold all his Ohio possessions and never returned to this state.

OHIO ODDITIES

By R. C. HALL

John George Gehring is a rather odd person because of his studies of what may be called odd diseases. He was born at Cleveland. In 1857, graduated in medicine at Western Reserve University in 1885 and took a postgraduate course in the University of Berlin, in 1891. After returning to America, he located at Bethel, Maine, and since 1895 has specialized in mental diseases. He has made careful studies of many nervous diseases and required recognition. He also has written on the subject of his researches, "The Hope of the Variant" appearing in 1923. In recognition of his work, William Bingham II, of Bethel, Maine, gave $200,000 to the Neurological Institute of New York City.

Dinner Stories

AND THEN SHE WAS SILENT

A well known woman who was asked to a public function, was assigned a place between a bishop and a rabbi. Eager to be the lady of the moment, she said:

"I feel as if I were a leaf between the Old and the New Testament."

To which the rabbi responded: "That page, madam, usually is a blank."

A CROP THAT NEVER FAILS!

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By JACK STINNETT

New York—It often is the tremendous trifles that make the metropolitan newspapers worth a thorough scanning.

Roger Dakin of the Daily News turned this little gem of humor in to his city editor:

"A tuba, unlike a collar button, is seldom lost under a bed. This fact goes far to explain why the average man is singularly blind to the misplaced tuba problem."

"In fact, the average man hardly knows what a tuba is. Briefly, a tuba is a strange instrument made up of about 20 pounds of brass which, when suitably manipulated, gives forth a sound like the voice of a melodious swine. Ump-pah, if you know what we mean. Why this manipulation is necessary raises a problem not not pertinent here.

"We have to consider the misplaced tuba problem rather than the misplaced tuba problem. . . .

"The misplaced tuba problem is no joke. If you think so just try misplacing a bull fiddle. That's only half as difficult as misplacing the tuba.

"Some tuba owners have striven for years to misplace their tubas. Starting with collar buttons, they have worked their way up, but unfortunately most of them never get beyond the misplacing the grand piano stage. It takes talent, brother.

"That's why we are happy to hail the modest anonymous genius who accomplished the difficult task last night right here in New York.

"His method had the simplicity of a born tuba misplacer. Taking the tuba into a taxicab, driven by Harry Greenberg, the tuba owner had himself driven down Broadway . . . paid his fare and got out. "But he left his tuba behind! That's genius.

"Police of the West 30th street station now have the tuba under guard in a cell. How they face the problem of misplacing a tuba will be watched with interest."

Will Yolen introduced us to the boys in the quartet that sings into the small hours at the night club in Times Square hotel.

"This," he said, "is Ted King who used to lead the Capitol theater orchestra; and Charlie Polloy, who, under the name of Don Costello, led the orchestra at Zelli's, Mori's and the Versailles; and Buddy Burton, whose orchestra played at the Riviera and Little club; and Wilder Chase, who led an orchestra that accompanied Marion Harris."

Gali-Gali, the magician, speaks nine languages well. . . . But cannot read or write. . . . When a child in Port Said, he was so busy learning the fine art of prestidigitation and various languages to chant his patter for passengers on the ships that docked there, he had no time for "education."

There is a young woman who lives up Connecticut way and comes to New York only when business necessitates. . . . When she does, she brings along a pair of those plugs which swimmers use to keep water out of their ears. . . . She finds that they work as effectively against Manhattan's rattle-clatter when she is trying to sleep.

AUSTRIA BOUNDS INTO EUROPEAN POLITICAL SPOTLIGHT WITH ITALY IN BACKGROUND

Ousted Fascist Prince Schedules Conference with Mussolini

Little Austria, sometimes called "the head without a body," stole the international show from her more powerful neighbors today.

Kurt Schuschnigg, widowed chancellor, arose suddenly from the political backwash of the nation which the World War decimated. He ousted the volatile Fascist, Prince Ernst Rudiger Von Starhemberg, from the vice-chancellorship.

If the possible repercussions were obscure, it was because the political tempest that boils eternally in Austria has always been difficult to follow.

But the cabinet shakeup brought an apparent showdown on Starhemberg's gay-uniformed private army, the Heimwehr, which he has refused to disband, and possibly portended events of international scope.

Starhemberg is an out-and-out Fascist, close friend of Premier Mussolini of Italy, who just has won a war in Ethiopia which the League of Nations called "aggression."

Schuschnigg, though a disciple of the principle of an authoritative state, has more democratic ideas. As for the League of Nations, now involved in a fundamental dispute with Italy over annexed Ethiopia, there are many in Austria who cannot forget the helpful part played by Geneva in post-war Austrian reconstruction.

Better relations with Germany and possibly more favorable official reception of the movement for Hapsburg restoration were forecast in some quarters.

Of more immediate significance was Starhemberg's scheduled trip today to Rome.

There, Mussolini's blackshirts were donning their uniforms for a special chamber session, called to ratify Il Duce's summary assumption of sovereignty over Ethiopia.

The League of Nations council was in adjournment, but jurists remained at Geneva, seeking ways to strengthen the power of the covenant for world peace.

Expeditionary detachments in Ethiopia set out from Addis Ababa, determined to penetrate every part of Italy's new "possession."

Oil Man 'Strikes It Rich' Now He Is Going Fishing

Carlsbad, N. M. (AP)—Life is going to be just one big fishing trip from now on for Roy K. Stovall, Carlsbad oil operator.

Several months ago Stovall started drilling an oil well in southeastern New Mexico. The location was two miles from the nearest producer and at the best a long shot. Stovall won and now has a 50 per cent interest in a 300-barrel an hour well.

All his life Stovall wanted "a little cabin on the river where all I have to do is fish." He is busy drawing the plans now.

RURAL AND VILLAGE SCHOOLS

WILSON SCHOOL

Quite a number of parents and friends gathered at Wilson School on Thursday night for the May meeting of the Community Circle. It was decided to have the closing day picnic on May 21. Mrs. Sylvia Atkinson, Mrs. Robert Caplinger and Mrs. Walter Wilson were appointed on the picnic committee. The music supervisor, Mrs. Pensyl and the teachers have prepared a May Day program with the crowning of the May Queen for 2:00 p. m. on the last day. Mrs. W. O. Bumgarner, Mrs. Ralph Hays and Mrs. Artie Campbell were appointed to purchase ice cream for the picnic.

Mr. Raymond Stephens was the entertainer for the evening and delighted both the children and adults with his magic. The program closed with a piano duet by Caroline Garringer and Betty Wilson.

The following chapel program was given Monday afternoon. School for fish—Jimmy Mitchell, Janet Hodson, Barbara Allen and Lindy Wilson.

Tick-Tock—David Mitchell. * Funny Little Mothers—first and second grade girls.

Three Little Kittens—first and second boys.

The Naughty Little Mouse—Nell Louise Bumgarner.

Piano Duet—Betty Wilson and Caroline Garringer. Song—Gwine to run all night—fifth and sixth grade, Bobby Allen, soloist.

Playlet—Miss Jones, Milliner. Opening Playlet—An Intelligent Test—seventh grade girls. Playlet—The Sports Protest—seventh grade boys. Closing Song—America The Beautiful.

BUENA VISTA SCHOOL

The boys on our ball team went to Buckeye School last Wednesday afternoon for a baseball game and defeated the Buckeye team with a score of 7 to 5.

Mr. Ross, Principal of Cisco school brought his boys and girls over for a baseball game Friday afternoon. The score was 11 to 3 in favor of our team.

Charlotte Boggs who has been out of school quite a while due to sickness has recently been operated on for appendicitis at the St. Francis Hospital in Columbus, and is reported to be getting along very well.

We have 20 boys and girls who like school so well that they haven't missed a day of school this year. Here they are—Douglass Bond, Paul Buck, Junior Cornell, Bobbie Cochran, Betty Cochran, Jean Eakins, Russel Haines, Kathleen Hongland, Leonard Jones, Robert McFadden, Robert Reno, Heber Shonkwiler, Robert Smalley, James Smalley, Billie Ann McCoy, Kenneth Jones, Virginia Bandy, Georgiana Smalley, Dallas Bond, and Rebekah Shonkwiler.

Mark Shonkwiler one of our truck drivers was off Tuesday serving on the election board. Willard Fout substituted for him.

Miss Kinne the health nurse visited our school Thursday afternoon. Achievement tests will be given tomorrow (Wednesday) morning to grades 2-8 inclusive.

NEW MARTINSBURG

The past week has been known all over the nation as Music Week. Our school has been working on a program in keeping with the celebration, but instead of giving it then we shall present it the last week of school. This will finish up the music for this year.

The program is in the form of a cantata which means only singing without acting or costume. This is something new in our community handled in a new way. Everyone has a part. It is under the direction of Mrs. Hudson, our music supervisor, assisted by Mrs. Hall as accompanist and Mrs. Farquhar, reader, all of Washington C. H. All three are members of the Cecilian Music Club, "the" Music Club of Fayette County.

The cantata will be held May 19 at the Township House in New Martinsburg. Everyone is invited. A small admission (five and ten cents) will be charged to cover expenses.

WAYNE HIGH

The last P. T. A. meeting of the school year was held on Wednesday, May 6, at Wayne Hall. The program consisted of an address by Supt. Reese of the Washington Court House schools, a playlet, and several musical numbers.

The scholarship team went to Columbus, Saturday May 2 to participate in the District Scholarship Tests at Ohio State University. Vivian Garinger ranked fifth in the county classification in English 12; Myrtle Carman, eighth in county classification in English 9. A very interesting program was planned for the day, consisting of a swimming meet in the Ohio State pool and a track meet with Ohio State versus Michigan.

The Senior class play, "Back Again, Home Town", was given Friday, May 1, at Wayne Hall. A large crowd attended, helping to make the play a success. Both the Junior and Senior class plays were directed by Miss Paris.

Mr. Pressler, coach of the track squad, has selected a team which will go to Athens on Saturday, May 16 to participate in the district track meet. The team consists of Madeira Renick, Carl Beatty, Howard Kelley, Harold Thomas, Earl Rea, Willard Parrett and Charles Patton.

Mr. Pressler has been conducting girls' track events for the high school and junior high girls each day at noon.

The Junior and Senior reception will be held at the Cherry Hotel at Washington C. H. on May 15.

ACCUSED IN HUGE MAIL THEFTS

Oliver P. Arnold

Charles Roberts

What is believed to be the most widespread and largest mail robbery case in recent years is being investigated by United States postoffice inspectors at Denver with 11 persons, including Oliver P. Arnold, left, assistant vice president of the Denver National bank, and Charles Roberts, an attorney, arrested and accused of conspiracy to rob the United States mails. All those arrested in the case were arraigned and bound over to the next federal grand jury. Arnold gained his release on $5,000 bond. He denied that he had participated in the "fencing" of stolen bonds.

FRANCE ALTERS ROLE FOR NAVY TO GUARD FOOD

By ROBERT B. PARKER

Paris (AP)—Germany's growing economic independence and the fear that Great Britain may not always be ready to back France on the sea, is causing France to increase her fleet and radically alter her naval policy.

A bigger fleet, especially in submarines and destroyers, has been advocated by the ministry of the navy. Great Britain's reluctance, in the eyes of Frenchmen, to aid in swift punishment for Germany's violation of Locarno, was the text for a warning to the senate that France must be strong enough on the sea to fight her own battles.

See Reich Navy Attacking

German economic policy since Adolf Hitler assumed power has tended to make the reich independent of the sea. The German fleet, released from convoy protection work, can be concentrated entirely against French shipping and troop transports in case of war, French naval experts say.

The tricolor's fleet, therefore, rapidly is becoming an exclusively defensive arm.

More and more French fleet maneuvers are concerned with convoy problems with less attention to battle practice. French naval men foresee a widespread German attack, on the outbreak of war, against French shipping.

In wartime France depends on the sea for nearly 90 per cent of her food, raw material and munitions needs, and there are several hundred thousand colonial soldiers to be "ferried" to the European battlefronts.

Without complete control of the sea, navy officers say, France could be starved out in a few months. Her steel and concrete Maginot line along the German frontier would be worthless unless replacement troops could be brought to man them and unless munitions and food could be shipped to keep the armies going.

Once Deaf--Now Helps Others To Hear

The prescription of a Vienna ear specialist has been brought to this country by Charles Foucek, a well-known Chicago druggist, who was once deaf but who cleared up his condition through this prescription. Through him thousands of other sufferers have tried this formula and secured amazing relief from head noises, ringing and buzzing in ears, earache, and are now able to hear more distinctly. This prescription called Ourine, costs only a few cents a day—your money back if not delighted.—Christopher's Drug Store.

BOY-KINGS RULE OVER MILLIONS

With the death of his father, King Fuad I of Egypt, 16-year-old King Farouk becomes the oldest of three boy-monarchs who rule today under regencies over millions of subjects in Europe, Asia and Africa. The youngest of the three, King Ananda, 10, rules in absentia over 11,000,000 people in Siam. Twelve-year-old King Peter II of Yugoslavia has approximately 16,000,000 subjects, while King Farouk's kingdom has a population of approximately 14,000,000. Actions of all three will be supervised by a regency until they reach a suitable age.

New German Zeppelin—Latest in Luxury Liners

Germany's new Zeppelin, the LZ-129, which will inaugurate transatlantic service between the United States and Germany in May, is the "last word" in luxury liners and in aerial design. The Zeppelin is much larger than the famous Graf but not as huge as the ill-fated British dirigible, R-101. It is 817 feet long, has a maximum diameter of 130 feet and a hull capacity of 190,000 cubic meters. The LZ-129 is considered to be the most desirable size by the veteran of German dirigible construction, Dr. Hugo Eckener, who is expected to pilot the big ship on its inaugural flight.

Killed Three Women?

Nicholas Lacamera

Nicholas Lacamera, 36-year-old glass worker, was taken into custody at Fairmont, W. Va., while authorities continued their investigation into the fatal shooting of three women in a downtown hotel. After threatening for several days to "get" persons who started gossip about him, police say Lacamera walked into a hotel room occupied by Mary Sue Brown, 26, and shot her, then turned the revolver on Mrs. Yantis Dudley, 50, and Mrs. Lucille Limer, 30, as they ran to investigate the shooting. In custody, Lacamera told police, "I can't remember anything".

New delphinium plants from cuttings.
By DEAN HALLIDAY
WHEN YOU have an especially desirable delphinium and wish you had more of the same kind, make some cuttings when the plant reaches the height of three or four inches in the spring. Each cutting should have a portion of the crown attached, as shown in the above Garden-Graph. Dip the cuttings in cuprophanite, a copper carbonate preparation. About half the leaves should be removed from the cutting, then plant it in a flat of pure sand.
Keep the cuttings well watered and shaded for about three or four weeks, and you will find the majority of them beginning to show signs of growth. Then set them out in acid frame containing ordinary garden soil, and later place in their permanent location.

THE CAMDEN RUBY MURDER
by ADAM BLISS
COPYRIGHT—RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
Margalo Younger, an actress, is found murdered in the home of Doc Van Every, a collector of rare jewels, with a sharp needle-like instrument at the base of her brain. The only person in the room at the time of the murder were Van Every, whom she had just met, and Gary Maughan, old friend of hers and an acquaintance of Van Every. Against his wishes, she had been wearing Van Every's famous Camden ruby, which, as he recounted its gruesome history to his audience of two, Detective Keyes questions Maughan.
Van Every, the latter's niece, Joyce, who lives in the house, and her elderly companion, Laura Randall.
Maughan, who is anxious to help solve the murder, learns from Mar-galo's maid that a Roy Barrimore has called on the dead actress frequently. Maughan then goes to Detective Keyes' office for further questioning. The detective calls in Allan Foster, Joyce's fiancé, for questioning. Keyes and Maughan learn that Foster at one time was in love with the dead actress. Laura Randall calls on Detective Keyes to volunteer some information. A phone call to the detective brings the report that Roy Barrimore, close friend of Margalo, has shot himself.
(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 18
KEYES HALF invited me to accompany him to St. Vincent's to see Roy Barrimore. I needed no urging, and he seemed glad when I started out with him. Sergeant Neff was waiting for us outside the door of the operating room.
"They're operating on him. Emergency job. Shot himself through the lung, left lung, but the doctor doesn't know whether it is fatal. Thinks it might be." Neff announced to Keyes briefly.
We stepped away from the door and sat down in a sheltered corner of the corridor.
"I followed out your orders, sir."
Waited for Barrimore some time,
then found the landlord, who let us in the place. Fine-looking place, sort of Bohemian, but well furnished.
Rich rugs on the floors. Three rooms, two downstairs and one up, in the Lexington Mews. We had over an hour to search, and went over everything in the house from top to bottom. A picture of Miss Younger on the bureau in the bedroom, some notes of hers and might not. I doubt it. Too impersonal.
"We looked especially for the trick gun that shoots the needle, but didn't find it any place. No sign of any weapon in the place. In fact no luck there at all. We found nothing, except the few letters, four I think, and the photograph. No locked drawers, everything open. Nothing in any of the nooks of Barrimore's clothing."
"He came in, well, was less than an hour ago. I called you just after I had phoned for the ambulance. We were sitting in the living room, waiting for him, when we heard his key in the door. Then he came in, staggered back when he saw us, as if he was surprised. I showed my star, and quick as a flash he got his gun out of his pocket. I wasn't expecting it, so we did nothing. The shot was a quick one, but he didn't take time to aim perfectly. He was going for his heart, I know."
"Not a word was said. As I told you, I had just showed my star. He was still dressed in his tuxedo, at 1 o'clock—ruffled, his collar wilted, as if he had been going a terrific pace, his eyes wild, crazy. I knew him at once. The description I got at the theater, then one from the landlord. Besides, there was a sketch of him in the living room, a good one.
That's all, boss, I guess. Looks like he murdered Margalo Younger!"
"What did you find in his pockets?"
Keyes asked.
Neff led us to a small room off the surgery, where spread out on a table were Barrimore's bloodstained clothing. The articles from his pockets were arranged neatly beside the garments. I shuddered when I saw the crimson-blotched shirt, and the ripped clothing. It had been cut from his body with shears.
A watch, a fine one of platinum,
and chain, a cigarette holder of amber,
some $200 in bills in an expensive leather billfold, loose change, some personal cards, a cigarette lighter of silver, a linen handkerchief, hand monogrammed, constituted his belongings. The revolver Barrimore had employed to shoot himself lay near his watch.
Keyes fingered the billfold rapidly, and pulled out a clipping which he handed to me. It was the same that I had found in Margalo's pocket
clipped from the previous morning Dispatch.
We looked at each other in silence.
I left Keyes, promising to return

"All through?"
Whereas Margalo had cut hers neatly with the scissors, Barrimore had torn his roughly out.
The ruby again. Everywhere I turned it stared me in the face. I laid the clipping down with the other things.
"Confound it!" Keyes muttered
softly.
A white-robed doctor opened the door then, and taking off the mask that had nearly covered his face, ripped off a pair of rubber gloves.
His white garment was stained with blood. Reaching in his pocket, he pulled out a cigarette, and blandly walking to the table picked up Barri-more's cigarette lighter.
"All through?" Keyes asked.
"Yes. Got the bullet. It was lodged in the left lung. Very dangerous.
Don't know whether the patient will live," he said between puffs. "Poor devil made a nasty job of it."
It wasn't long after, when Barri-more was made comfortable in a private room, that Keyes and I tiptoed in to look at him. The man on the white bed was deathly pale, and was barely breathing. His face, I thought, was a fine one, thin, aristocratic, impulsive— even in his unconscious state. He seemed about 52. His hair was dark and a small, dark mustache edged his upper lip.
He loved Margalo. I looked at him again curiously. Had he killed her?
He didn't look like a killer as he lay there trying to die. For that he must be doing. His chin receded a little. Weak. Yet there was something likable about his face. I felt no anger as I watched him. Nothing that I thought I would feel. Finally I felt Keyes nuzzing at my arm, and we left.
We were in the police car before
we spoke.
"I don't think he killed Margalo,"
I said, reaching in my pocket for a cigarette. "It would rather seem to me that he shot himself, not because he was guilty, but because Margalo was dead."
"I'm not jumping at conclusions, Maughan. If he were jealous of you,
why didn't he kill you instead of Miss Younger? Perhaps, though, his aim was bad. Perhaps he meant to kill you, and when he found he had killed Margalo Younger, he shot himself."
"Keyes, you know very well that the man who killed Margalo made a perfect aim. He meant to kill her.
If man he was. The needle was fired perfectly into the brain. It was planned cold-bloodedly. Barrimore doesn't look like that kind of a chap. What I'm aiming at, Keyes, is this, if you don't get me. If Barri-more was the man who killed Margalo, would he have shot himself today, worried, frightened at the sight of three detectives in his home? Would he now? No, I don't think so. The person who murdered Margalo is cool, ruthless."
"Maybe you're right, Maughan, but nevertheless, I'm swearing out a warrant for Barrimore this afternoon, holding him on the charge of the murder of Margalo Younger!"
I left Keyes, promising to return
